

Presentation

You use the present perfect with how long, for and since to talk about an action or a situation that started in the past and continues in the present.

He's worked here for over fifty-five years. (He started working here fifty-five years ago – he still works here.)

I haven't played tennis since I left school.

How long have you known Steve?

You do not use the present simple. (don't say He works here for over fifty-five years.)

for and since

You use for to talk about a period of time:

He's worked here for fifty-five years / a long time.

You use since with the point in time when the action started:

TIP You use the past simple in time expressions with since:

He's worked for his father since he left school.

I've made a lot of friends since I moved here.

I've known Jim since I was a child.

1 Look at the pictures and write sentences using the present perfect of the verbs in brackets and time expressions with for or since.
